

SALT LAKE DAILY HERALD

THURSDAY MORNING, DEC. 23, 1880.

THE DAILY HERALD is published every morning, Mondays excepted, at 100 Temple Street, near First South, Salt Lake City, by the HERALD PRINTING AND PUBLISHING COMPANY. Subscription price $10.00 per annum, postage included, in advance. Single copies, 5 cents. To weekly subscribers, collection made by carrier. The SEMI-WEEKLY HERALD is published every Wednesday and Saturday morning, at $4.00 a year; six months, $2.25, postage included. Postage outside the U. S. and Canada, extra.

THE SENATE has confirmed Judge Woods as associate justice of the United States Supreme Court. Of course Woods is an Ohio man, but if he makes a good judge the country will care little where he hails from.

THERE is a question about Vice-President-elect Arthur's eligibility, it appears, some claiming that he was born in Canada, in which event he could not lawfully hold the office. If the question is of sufficient importance, it might be sent out here to Utah, where a cabal has been formed for determining the citizenship question and the rights of persons to hold the office to which they have been elected by the people.

HERE in Utah there is general alarm, and the disease is regarded almost in the light of a scourge, diphtheria causes the death of a hundred people or so during a year; but if we compare our losses to those of the government of Kharkoff, Prussia, the people here would rejoice in not knowing anything of the malignity of the disease. In Kharkoff, last year, the number of deaths from diphtheria was 7,000, or about seven times as many as in Utah. For the first six months of the present year the deaths numbered 5,600, or at the rate of eleven to one in Utah during the years when the ravages of the disease were greatest here.

THE SPECIAL Washington dispatch to a Chicago paper, and which comes to us this morning in the way of Associated Press news, is a fair sample of how eastern journalists get things mixed when talking about Utah. It will be interesting for the Mormons to learn that they "appear very uneasy at the attitude of the President, and have sent on a lobby to feel the temper of Congress." If one may judge from surface indications, and what is said on the subject, the Mormons are less exercised over the attitude of Mr. Hayes than the kind of sauce they are going to have for the Christmas turkey. The Mormons, so far as can be learned, say little and care less about the President's attitude. The scrupulous newspaper correspondent in Washington, we presume, is more exercised over the presidential posing than the Mormons ever dreamed of being. It will also be news to the people of Utah to learn that a lobby has been sent on to Washington to feel the congressional pulse, and that, of course, more than anybody else, will be astonished to find out that he is that lobby, as well as to ascertain other facts about his domestic affairs which the correspondent has to tell him. Now, the truth is, the newspaper man has caught a glimpse of Gus Clawson—who is in Washington for a day or two, purely on pleasure and recreation bent—and from that single circumstance the Faber-pusher has framed his item, intended to be sensational.

THE DISGRACEFUL scene in the House of Representatives, on Tuesday, was an aggravated instance of those occurrences which are becoming entirely too frequent in the national legislature. Two or three happen at every session, and while only a certain few Congressmen engage in them, the entire Congress is responsible for these outrages which tend to bring disgrace upon the nation. As long as Congress passes over in silence, or administers only mild rebukes, these disgraceful scenes will occur. In the 593 representatives and 76 senators there are certain to be found some bullies and braggarts of the Sparks-Weaver order; there are certain to be some men who do not know how to be gentlemen, nor understand what the dignity of a legislator means; and these few are breaking out and making displays of themselves whenever the occasion presents itself. They are not bullies in the popular acceptance of the term, and are not entitled to the respect that is accorded to the business men of the lower orders of society. They copy the low manners and raffish surface characteristics of the professional bully, but are lacking in the qualities which these ordinary people have some decent regard and consideration for the real blackguard. If these congressional braggarts possessed the personal courage which they assume, they would not make a display of emptying to fight in the halls of Congress; they would be slow to exhibit their heavy fists. A man who calls another a liar on the floor of the House or Senate chamber, is not only lacking in the instincts of a gentleman, but is a coward, and would be exceedingly chary in the use of offensive utterances where his opponent could resent them after the manner of men. A coward will make a loud exhibition of courage where there is no danger. Weaver and Sparks will hurl defiant threats at each other, giving good occasion for a fight, and even fight at each other as if bent on a personal encounter, but they do all this in the presence of two or three hundred men, who they know, will not permit them to fight. Left alone and beyond the possibility of outside interference, we undertake to say that Sparks and Weaver would be most civil, each taking pains to avoid offending the other. If they are not that kind of men, then they are exceptions to the generosity of bullies, and phenomenal in their way. And what is the punishment that their brother lawmakers impose for the gross breach of law, of rules, of deportment, and of common decency? The House "permitted" the offenders to apologize, and then dropped the matter. If Congress expects to preserve its dignity in this manner it will be easily disappointed. It is no punishment, is not even humiliating, to men who could be guilty of Tuesday's outrageous proceeding, to make humble apologies for their conduct. Indeed, they rather enjoy apologizing, as it gives them more of the kind of notoriety that they like. Next week they would again make a disgraceful bluff, and again apologize. The House should have promptly and without ceremony, expelled the bullies as persons unworthy to sit in a body that is making laws for the government of the country. Only by some such action can these disgraceful scenes be stopped and respect for Congress be maintained. If this were the first time that such things had occurred, there might be some excuse for extending a plea of leniency on behalf of the culprits; but these outrageous occurrences are happening frequently, both in the House and the Senate, where there are scenes which, happening in a beer-garden, or some low dive, would cause the officers to shake the place as a nuisance. Sparks, one of the parties to the latest row, engaged in a similar fracas once before in Congress, and Weaver is noted for his insolent, overbearing conduct. Both are fit to be turned out, but neither is fit to hold his seat.

You Have No Excuse.
Have you any excuse for suffering with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint? Is there any reason why you should go on from day to day complaining with Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Constipation, Palpitation of the Heart, Heartburn, Waterbrash, Cracking and Burning Pains at the pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and Disagreeable Taste in the Mouth, Coming Up of Food after eating, Low Spirits, etc.? No! It is positively your own fault if you do. Go to your Druggist and get a Bottle of GAZER'S AUGUST ELOXAN. For 75 cents your cure is certain, but if you doubt this, get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Two doses will relieve you.

To Capitalists.
If you want a place to build a house, with surroundings that cannot be equalled in Salt Lake City, call on us and we can please you. Room ample and facilities for every want.
